

Culture Tips

For the city's size, Freiburg has a substantial amount to offer when it comes to culture. One can get the best information about movie theaters, clubs, concerts, and parties from the insider's network.

If you are a Freiburger then you should know about the Online-Portal: www.fudder.de
The youth in Freiburg communicate with and inform others about what is going on in the city. For students there is also a first-timers help section.

Additionally, at the beginning of every semester there is a brochure that is available called "studentenfudder" with specifically chosen insider tips to fill up your free time in Freiburg. The booklet can be found everywhere in the city, at the university and the dining halls for free.

You can also find more information about student life in Freiburg on our website: www.studieren-in-freiburg.com

You can also receive news and event tips for students on our Facebook page: www.facebook.com/studentenwerk.freiburg and www.twitter.com/studentenwerk.fr

In this reference booklet we are restricting our information to the museums, theaters, libraries and public swimming pools in Freiburg and their special offers that they have for students.

Museums

Augustiner Museum

The Augustiner Museum presents art from the Middle Ages to the Baroque era as well as paintings for the 1800s. Thanks to architect Christoph Mäckler the old monastery is now an impressive modern museum that offers closer and better views of the artwork, and it changes a simple visit to an experience.

Museum for New Art

Masterworks from the Modern Classics to the present represent the large art influxes of the last 100 years. The collection has an unmistakable profile with an emphasis on the region and substantial international accents. Names such as Feiniger, Dix, Heckel, Hofer, Macke, Scherer, Kanoldt, Dischinger, and Scholz stand for different aspects between Expressionism and New Objectivity.
